[WILLIAMSON FAMILY] An Extensive and Interesting Archive relating to the Estates of Harrow and Ballyoril, Co. Wexford, property of Col. Richard Williamson & his son Major Charles, and administered by their agent and cousin Capt. J.O. Young of Portarlinton, approx 1875-1905 Some hundreds of documents including: detailed rental accounts for 1876-7, with tenants' names and holdings, and a summary account for half year to May, 1905; about sixty letters from the Major to Capt. Young, mostly 1899-1907, discussing management of the estate in great detail, with others (mostly 1880s) from J. Moulds, rent-collector; a protracted correspondence concerning T. Donoghue of Coolatore, an improvident tenant whom Major Williamson wished to eject, with several letters from Fr. Sylvester Clancy of Ferns, seeking leniency for Mrs. Donoghue. Major Williamson was evidently an old-fashioned landlord, and his correspondence with Capt. Young (conducted partly from the Marine View Boarding House in Yarmouth) makes it clear that he clearly resented this charitable intervention: "I am sorry to hear that the Donohoe sale hangs fire, and think it great impertinence on the part of the Priest to interfere and threaten a disturbance if we do not accept his nominee as tenant, which his letter really meansy". (14 June 1899).nThe archive also includes various documents about income tax, succession duties, tithes, poor rates, Land Commission findings in relation to rent adjustments (some of them upward), court papers relating to ejections, solicitors' accounts and bills of costs, etc; and some papers concerning John Owen Williamson, a lunatic, evidently of the same family, whose estate was also administered by Capt. Young.nAn interesting archive, covering the period when Parnell, Gladstone and the Land League gradually made inroads into the previously arbitrary power of the landlords
